

NOMINATING COMMITTEE PROCEDURES

Leadership Begins with the Nominating Committee

The Nominating Committee is elected for the sole purpose of seeking qualified individuals to be the nominee for each office to be filled.

Choosing the Committee

Follow the Rules

Refer to the bylaws to see when your nominating committee is elected. Bylaws sections pertaining to the committee should be read to the membership. Effective leadership is important. Bylaws that provide for electing the nominating committee early in the PTA year allow members to seek out effective leaders.

Be Fair

All members should have the opportunity to nominate or be nominated for the committee.

Be Careful

- Members of the committee should be just as qualified as the officers they will be selecting.
- The committee should never be chosen by the president.
- The committee should not be chosen by asking for volunteers.
- The president is not a member ex-officio and cannot be elected to the committee.
- The committee membership should be an odd number.

Committee Organization

- The committee should meet immediately following the election to elect a chairman and select a time and place for its first meeting.
- The chairman shall inform the general membership of the committee meeting date and request advisory recommendations.

Committee Meetings

- Allow sufficient time to study and discuss candidates; more than one meeting may be required.
- Keep deliberations confidential.
- Be prepared to speak to qualifications of possible nominee.
- Select ONE nominee for each office
