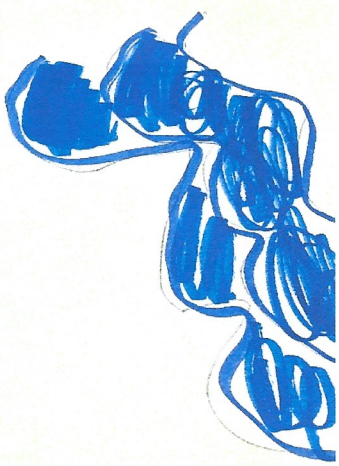
The squirrel who goes fishing

One day the squirrel wanted to go fishing. But he could not find his fishing pole. His mom said, "Jim look in the closet." He said, "it was in there thank you mom." He looked out the window and saw a bird eating a worm.

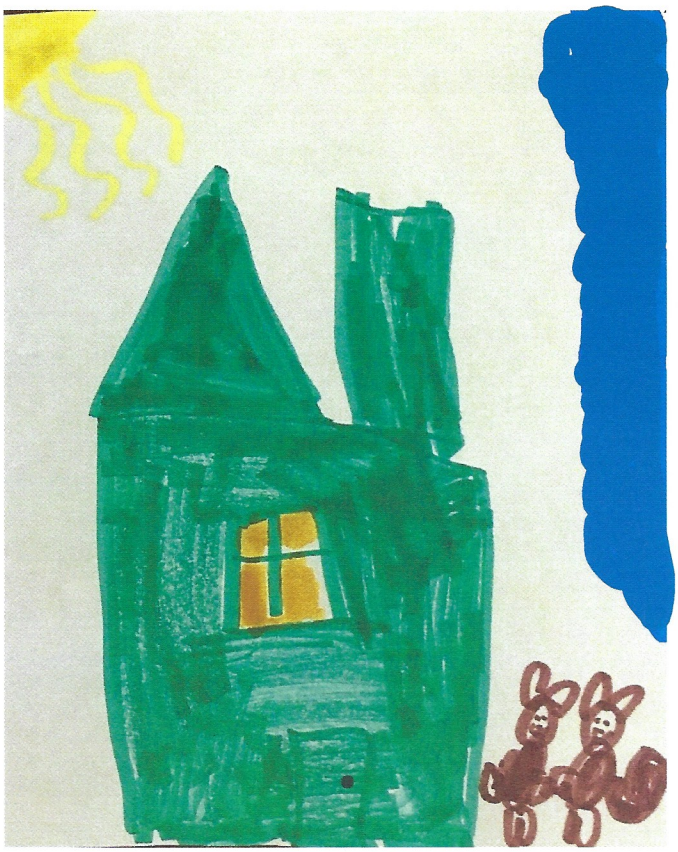
He remembered; he needed a worm to go fishing for the fish to eat and he needed to pack his lunch. When Jim gets to the big lake, he put his sandwich on the hook! No fish came near the sandwich after three hours.

Jim was getting hungry. It was lunch time and then Jim realized he grabbed his lunch instead of the worms. He runs home but he locked himself out. He could see the keys inside.

Jim goes back to the lake. He grabs the worm and puts it on the hook instead of the sandwich. Then he catches three fish and he eats the three fish for lunch.



Jim finds the tree that hides his spare keys and grabs the keys. Then he goes home with the keys.



Then his friend Bob rings the doorbell. The doorbell goes "Ding, Dong!" Bob asks Jim, "hey, let's go to the lake." Jim says, "Yes."

Jim takes a picture of the two of them because they are having fun on the walk and they are friends.

Then Bob says "let's go fishing." They caught three hundred fish. Bob and Jim had fun!
